The general average rate per perch for repairs and maintenance—15-21 pence.
That for Spring 1859, was 16-05 pence.

The mileage includes 47 miles 2 furlongs and 30 perches, of late Turnpike roads, the expenditure on which alone was £2405 9s. 8d. The increase in the mileage over that of 1858 for roads under repairs was 53 miles, at an extra expense of £661 2s. 7d.

The roads under contracts for repairs, have been generally kept in very good order considering the season

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

At the last Assizes the following roads were placed in my hands,

The saving effected will therefore be about £369 for one year, and they have been kept in better order than when under contract. I mention this merely to show that the prices allowed at Sessions were abundant, and not for the purpose of increasing my own labour, which has been doubled, without any remuneration out of the savings effected, or interfering in any way with the ordinary contract system, which as far as the public interests require, I wish to uphold. My accounts for these and other works will be laid before your Committee.

Louth County Archives

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

A sum of £176 2s 7d, has been paid at my own risk on neglected contracts of maintenance, since last Assizes, to prevent inconvenience to the public

Several road contracts, principally in the Barony of Ardee were not tendered for at the adjourned Sessions. The prices sanctioned were fair for the works required; I am however informed that many of those contracts will now be taken by contractors.

The only new work of any moment on the Schedule is an application for £650 to rebuild Mattock bridge, at the bounds of this County and Meath. In equity I think we should not have to pay for this work, but it appears the law requires a moiety to be presented in each County, although the failure was on the Meath side. The designs will be laid before you, and a tender from a respectable contractor

I am prepared to report verbally on all other matters which shall come before you.

The Committee appointed by the Grand Jury at the last Assizes, to report on the duties performed by the County Surveyor and assistants, recommended that the full salary permitted by law, should be paid to Mr. P. Cahill, one of the assistants I beg to recommend this increase of salary, not only from the increase of his duties, but from the conscientious and intelligent manner in which they are performed

I have the honor to be Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the GRAND JURY of the County of Louth, assembled at Summer Assizes, 1860

GENTLEMEN,

I held an examination of persons properly recommended, desirous of filling the Office of Assistant Surveyor vacant since the last Assizes, I shall lay before you the result but there is none on the list whom I could recommend as having sufficient skill for the Office, and I considered it better work on for the present with the help I have, than by engaging an unsuitable person, do an injury instead of a benefit to the County.

The expenditure since last Assizes on works placed in my hands was £438 7s 8d, and on works since neglected by Contractors, £255 3s 8d, the accounts shall be laid before the Committee. The sums still available for works transferred to me is £1125 19s 3d, the accounts for all works placed in my hands shall be open to any Cess-payer who may wish to examine them, as well as to the Members of the Grand Jury

I have been unable from the state of the weather this season, to commence as yet the works of the bridge over the river Fane in the Baronies of Louth and Upper Dundalk, although a good deal of the material is now ready, it will be necessary to stop up the roadway while the work is in progress as the amount of the Presentment is small, if the foundations present any difficulty, and the original application was made without an estimate

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

A Presentment for £400 was made at the late road Sessions for Upper Dundalk, to lower hills and fill hollows on the old road from Dundalk to Ardee at Ballybarrack, as usual in this County, this application was made without a section or estimate from any person and the labour of prepairing them was transferred to me. The sum applied for was entirely insufficient for the purpose of attaining inclinations not exceeding one in twenty, and I therefore recommended the parties not to tender for it

Some heavy Presentments for footpaths appear on the Schedule amounting together to about £660, In a County of very heavy traffic such as this, it is necessary to convenience foot passengers to and from market or fair towns, and I am glad that latterly there appears little objection to the repairs of footways at Road Sessions Collon, Dunleer and Termonfeckin have certainly as fair a proportionate claim on their Barony as the town of Ardee has on the Barony of Ardee, the town of Louth on the Barony of Louth, the town of Dundalk on the Barony of Upper Dundalk or the town of Carlingford on the Barony of Lower Dundalk, I trust the footpaths of all villages shall receive occasional help from the Baronies in which they are situate

The works not contracted for at this Assizes are principally in the southern portion of the County, twelve months since the reaction was greatest in the northern portion where the works are all now tendered for, in every case the works required for the repairs or maintenance of roads can be executed within the prices sanctioned at Road Sessions. When these roads are placed in my hands although obliged to pay wages for ordinary labourers, not less than 14d. P diem, there is no want of funds to do the work required, I believe however that in a short time we shall have a better class of Contractors, and that the example set them in different districts will be of great advantage,

The season has not been favourable to road work since the last Assizes, the roads under contract of maintenance are however in as good a state, if not greatly better, than those of any other district of the same traffic in Ireland.

I am Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.

The increase of mileage, in 1860 over 1859, of roads under repairs and Contracts of maintenance was 50 miles 4 furlongs and 9 perches, but there is a reduction in the total amount presented for all works of £611 6s. 8d. The average rate per perch for repairs and maintenance in 1858, was 16—05 pence, in 1859, 15—21 pence, and in 1860, 14—8 pence, I believe these reductions have been effected entirely through the operation of the Act, 20 & 21 Vict. chap. 15, and the determined stand I took in 1858 and previously amidst much difficulty against high and higher prices. The effect was to throw several works into my own hands for maintenance and repairs, but the most of those have been I am glad to report, contracted for at the late road Sessions at and under the prices formerly refused. At the end of this report I have attached a general Table showing the detailed expenditure for each Barony as presented for at Spring and Summer Assizes in 1860.

The expenditure for Works of repairs and maintenance placed in my hands was £1146 since last Assizes, and there still remains available to my credit for them a sum of £775. The accounts in detail are given at the end of this report and will be vouched for as usual. While on this subject I beg leave to suggest the necessity of having one permanent Member of the Grand Jury on the Committee to inquire into the Surveyor's Accounts and duties At the last Assizes only one Member of the Committee attended, and although the Law requires that the Surveyor should account on oath for any expenditure entrusted to him, I consider it most desirable that the accounts should be also open to all and that at least one Member of the Committee should be conversant with the manner of keeping them.

Amongst the new applications is a sum of £350 for a bridge at Dunleer, I believe some Tenders have been lodged for this work. The sum presented will be all required for the works shown on the plans and described in the specification.

A presentment of one shilling is asked for making 346 perches of a new road near Monasterboice in the Barony of Ferrard The object is to stop the present road and to substitute therefore the new one. If the new road be completed in accordance with the plans and specification which have been prepared under my instructions, I can see no objection to the proposed alteration,

Several applications for building fences and thereby narrowing the adjacent roads will be laid before you. The Presentments for building fences cause a great deal of trouble, and I hope none will be passed without a proper map showing exactly how the new fence is proposed to be built.

I have not yet appointed any person to fill the office of Assistant Surveyor, vacant since Spring Assizes 1860, considering the great responsibility of the position, I consider it better under existing circumstances to keep the vacancy open, notwithstanding the increase of mileage, and the extra work thrown into the office, and on the other Assistants.

The past season has been very severe on contractors for repairing roads of heavy traffic, notwithstanding, the Crusts of these and all other roads through the County are still increasing in strength, Want of skill in the preparation and application of materials is what I have most reason to complain of. It is not difficult to observe, price to price and traffic to traffic, the superior state of roads repaired directly by the office, and the effect in raising a better standard has been on the whole satisfactory, but the most satisfactory result of all is that road contractors have lately taken most of those roads, at and under the prices per perch, for which before no contractors could be had.

I have the honor to be Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.

Ordered—That for the future all Presentments for the maintenance of deserted children be paid, when due, by the County Treasurer, out of the surplus or balance in his hands.

Louth County Archives

Resolved—That for the future, in all cases of any interference with the County property, between Assizes and Assizes. We direct our Solicitor to take such proceedings as he may think advisable, when called upon to do so by the County Surveyor.

We appoint Edward K. Supple, Esq. (Sub Inspector of Constabulary,) to stamp and adjust the Sub Standard Weights and Measures of this County, and also to have in his Custody the County copies of the Imperial Weights and Measures, pursuant to the Act 23 & 24 Vict. chap. 119, sec. 7.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the GRAND JURY of the County of Louth, assembled at Summer Assizes, 1861.

Gentlemen,

The applications on the Schedule at this Assizes are for the usual County Works, and do not require any particular mention until they come separately before you. I may however now state that a sum of £150, is sought for footpaths in the Town of Ardee, and £500 for footpaths in the Town of Dundalk; both Towns being under the "Towns Improvement Act."

The roads under maintenance and repairs throughout the County are in excellent order and I have latterly by example in the manner of executing the repairs of roads thrown on my own hands, been enabled to get the formation and water-tables better attended to than before.

The Contractor for building the bridge at Dunleer did not begin the work until very lately and the advantages of a few months of fine weather earlier in the Season were lost by him. I have to regret the delay in getting up the foundations until the late light floods set in.

The works of the new bridge over the River Fane near the Commons of Dromiskin, given me to execute, are in progress. The foundations were laid about twenty two feet below the roadway, about ten feet under high water Spring tides, and literally on a moving bluish quicksand. The sum presented £400 for this work did not admit of every precaution being used in making the foundation sure. They will however I believe answer and are carried down about three feet lower than shown on the plans. The risk was so great that I attended the works nearly daily myself. It will be recollected that the bridge lower down, built on a rock foundation at considerably less depth cost over £1200 of which about £860 was paid by the County the value as reduced by traverse. The bridge we are building has about 12 feet skew which adds considerably to the cost.

At the Spring Assizes of each year I submit the statistics of works for the year past. These show that by far the greater portion of the expenditure comes under the head of "repairs and maintenance of roads." The expenditure under other heads in 1860 did not amount to 8 per Cent of the entire levy for works. A saving of one penny per perch on the roads now under Contract would amount to over £690 yearly. It is therefore in this direction that I would principally ask the Road Sessions to assist me in keeping down the expenditure. Some three years ago I was often told I would get no Contractors even at the extra prices then allowed on account of the increase of wages. Well, a reduction in the rate per perch has gradually taken place since then, and an increase in the mileage owing I believe entirely to the operation of the Act which enables the Grand Jury to transfer to the Surveyor, the execution of works not contracted for. The roads thus transfered to my charge are now one by one falling back into the hands of Contractors at reduced rates per perch, and the example has been useful in developing more skill and keeping the roads greatly better than before. I shall give a few examples.

1—The road between the mills of Louth and Ardee was formerly contracted for at 8 pence per perch. I had to take it out of the Contractor's hands and to reform and repair it. This road was contracted for at the late road Sessions for 6¼ pence per perch, or a permanent saving of thirty three per Cent.

2—No Contractors could be had for the leading road between Dundalk and Ardee to Mapastown bridge. It was placed in my hands during 1860. The road was never better kept and a great deal of work was done never before required, This road was taken at last Spring Assizes, at 16 per Cent under the former rate

3—The portion of the late turnpike road to Drogheda, between the pound of Kilsaran and Connyburrow bridge was put up for a three years contract at 2 shillings per perch per year, at Summer Assizes, 1849, No Contractor would tender: I have since kept this road for nine pence per perch per year and in at least as good order as the portions of the same line of road on either side at three times the amount,

There is nothing better known in the Office than that old Contractors frequently keep back from contracting unless at their own rates or unless some other Contractor come forward to tender. I am therefore trying to get in as many new hands as I can; but I regret to add that an old and bad one who has been out of the books for some time will creep in also. I may say however with reference to cost that the peculiar position of this County, its narrow width along the Coast, the large and increasing Exports and Imports through its Harbours, and being peculiarly Agricultural, must always keep its average road traffic higher than any other in Ireland.

The expenditure on all works given to me to execute since last Assizes, was £735; and the amount yet available to my order to complete them is £670. The expenditure will be accounted for as usual and the accounts in detail laid before you, I have already requested that all payments should be removed from my Office, which should be an Office of Works only, and I again beg to submit the request to your consideration.

I have reconsidered the question of the comparative cost of stone and iron bridges, for this County, and am confirmed in my previous views. Where the available height is limited, occasions may arise in which it may be convenient to carry the road way on iron girders. But from the facility of obtaining excellent stone sheeting every where. I find that a Stone superstructure is cheaper than Iron in the proportion of one half or two thirds to one and more suitable, safe and permanent. I shall lay details before any Gentleman who may wish to examine the question.

I have not yet appointed an Assistant Surveyor to the office vacant since Spring Assizes, 1860.

JOHN NEVILLE.
