GRAND JURY ORDERS AT SPRING ASSIZES, 1870.

Resolved—That the following be appointed Commissioners until next Summer Assizes, for the purpose of taking such steps as they may consider prudent in order to protect the interests of the County in the matter of the proposed change respecting the providing of a building as a lunatic Asylum for this County, viz :—

The Rt. Hon. Lord Rathdonnell		Laurence Waldron, Esq.
Sir John S. Robinson, Bart.		Francis Donagh, Esq.

And that the County Solicitor do attend upon the said Commissioners, and take such instructions from them as the said Commissioners may think fit to issue at any time.

Resolved—That our Solicitor take the opinion of Counsel as to the Greenore, Dundalk and Enniskillen Railway Company having complied with the Act of Parliament in their construction of the Bridge over Barrack Street in the Town of Dundalk.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of the County of Louth assembled at Spring Assizes, 1870.

GENTLEMEN,

There were 591 miles of roads in this county kept in repair during the past year, at an expense of £8,316. The mileage still continues to increase, and the cost of maintenance to decrease. For instance, there were 578 miles of roads repaired and maintained in 1866 at a cost of £9,552, which shews in the three last years 13 miles increase of quantity but a reduction of £1,236 in cost. The expenditure on all descriptions of works in 1866 was £10,584, and in the past year £10,311. It is principally in the cost of maintenance that the cess-payers must look for a permanent saving and the foregoing results will, I believe, be found satisfactory.

I have attached to this Report the usual statistics of the works in each barony, and a comparative view of the general cost of each class for the last three years.

The roads through the county have been, with very few exceptions, kept in good order by the contractors during the past year.

Two resolutions adopted at Road Sessions with reference to the crossings of the Greenore Railway with county roads appear on the Schedule, to which I beg to call your attention, in order that I may receive proper instructions how to act.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.

8th March, 1870.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of the County of Louth assembled at Summer Assizes, 1870.

GENTLEMEN,

In the year 1860, there were 517 miles 2 furlongs and 6 perches of roads maintained through the County, at a cost of £9714 8s. In the past year there were 590 miles 6 furlongs and 36 perches maintained at a cost of £8987 12s. 9d., which shows an increase of 73 miles 2 furlongs 30 perches, with an annual decrease of £726 15s. 3d. in the cost of maintenance—a result in every way satisfactory, but which has been obtained gradually, although subject to those fluctuations more and less in the intermediate years, which it is hopeless to eliminate from a system of contracts based on competition, and therefore dependent to some extent on the will and judgment of the Contractors.

One of my assistants, Mr. P. J. Dodd, having been appointed by the Government to another office, will cease to act when I can satisfactorily fill his place. There are 44 applications for the office, and I hope to be able to select the most suitable candidate. A glance at the County Expenditure in the Works' Department, will show that the whole expenditure of superintendence is small compared with what can be saved by integrity and skill; and as I am endeavouring to raise the standard of the Assistants' qualifications, I would ask that the full salary allowed by law shall be allocated by the Grand Jury for any Assistants who shall now and hereafter be appointed in this County.

A. SHEKLETON, Secretary to Grand Jury.

There is a very general feeling amongst the Cesspayers at Road Sessions, in favour of making the greater number of road contracts to begin from Summer Assizes, as the farmers are better enabled to pay the levy after the ensuing harvest; while, on the other side, the road Contractors struggle for Spring Contracts, as the levy is available to make them payments immediately after Summer Assizes, and before there is much expenditure; while, on the Summer Contracts, the whole or much the greater portion of the work must be completed during the Winter before they can receive payment after the Spring Assizes. I am still of opinion that the views of both parties could be met by making advances out of the surplus funds that cannot be paid until the Assizes after the expiration of the Contract year.

The Works throughout the County are generally in good order.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
JOHN NEVILLE.

GRAND JURY ORDERS AT SPRING ASSIZES, 1871.

We do hereby appoint Mr. John Pansing to the office of Assistant to County Surveyor upon the recommendation of John Neville, Esq., C.E., and in room of Mr. Patrick J. Dodd, resigned.

Ordered—That a Corrected Set of the Ordnance Survey Maps be provided for the County Surveyor, for the use of his office.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of the County of Louth, assembled at Spring Assizes, 1871.

GENTLEMEN,

The general expenditure on road works last year was £9,577 4s. 4d. This is £734 7s. 7d. less than that of the preceding year, the mileage continuing the same. The details of the expenditure for different classes of works are given in the accompanying tables, and also their comparison with the like items in the two preceding years. The roads and road-works are very generally in good repair, but I have had to withhold certificates in some cases. Between the Assistants and Surface-road Contractors there has been remissness in the maintenance of foot-paths, included now for some time in the contracts for carriage-way maintenance. I have been endeavouring to remedy this, but I believe reference to it at present will be of use, and cause an improvement for the future.

There is no work on the Schedule calling for special reference. There is, however, one case of combination, to which I shall request your attention when the number is called over.

As the Corrected Ordnance Survey for this County is now completed, I beg to ask for your order to procure a complete set for the use of my office, under the 66th section of the Grand Jury Act.

Up to this I have been unable to select a suitable County-Assistant in the place of Mr. Dodd, and at my request he continues to act until I can do so, which I hope will be at this Assizes.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.

COUNTY OF LOUTH.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of the County of Louth assembled at Summer Assizes, 1871.

GENTLEMEN,

The County Roads and other Works are generally in very good order; and, with few exceptions, the specifications and plans have been fairly carried out by the Contractors. Want of ready application to work, when required, is what is mostly required on their part; but the late wet weather has not been favourable to them.

The New Applications at this Assizes require no special reference—as they are called over I shall give any necessary explanations.

I have to submit, for the purpose of receiving your instructions at this Assizes, some letters received from the Agent of an Estate in Lower Dundalk, with reference to the repairs of a road leading to the Sea at Templetown, and my replies.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.
