The County Gaol ceasing to be County Property on the 1st of April next, the Fire Insurance is renewed for one month only, from 25th March to 25th April next.

Ordered—That in the cases of roads in the Town of Dundalk handed over for repairs at the present Assizes to the County Surveyor until next Summer Assizes, the repairs of all such roads shall, during such period, include the cleaning of same in like manner, as the course pursued with the other roads in the Barony of Upper Dundalk outside the Town of Dundalk.

Ordered—That our solicitor report to the Grand Jury at the ensuing Summer Assizes what the law is as to the cleansing of the roads in the Town of Dundalk, as regards the dispute now existing between the Town Commissioners and the County, and that he shall attend at the next Presentment Sessions for the Barony of Upper Dundalk, and report to the Justices and Cess-payers thereat.

That the question in difference between the County and the Directors of the Dundalk, Newry, and Greenore Railway Company as to the right of the County to take up portions of the road from Quay-street to Barrack-street, in the Town of Dundalk, be referred to the County Solicitor.

Ordered—That the Sum of £31 7s. be paid to the Dundalk Town Commissioners for the removal of mud from the principal streets out of the New Presentments for said Streets, now in the hands of the County Surveyor. For self and fellows.

JOHN S. ROBINSON,
Foreman of Grand Jury.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of Louth assembled at Spring Assizes, 1878.

GENTLEMEN—The amount presented for works in the last year was £13,116, and the amount levied £12,505; the difference, £611, having been re-presented in aid of the levy.

There were 584 miles of roads under contracts, and they have, in general, been well repaired and maintained by your contractors, notwithstanding the unusual wetness of the year—the worst of three successive wet ones. The expenditure for each barony, with a general comparative abstract for the last three years, are given in the tables attached in the usual manner to this report. From these it will be seen that the average prices and cost are going up, and that the tendency is still upwards. But the tonnage of vessels frequenting our coast is also going up, as from returns I have got, the increase for the Port of Dundalk alone appears to be 50,000 tons in 1877 over 1873. The traffic on our roads is, from this and other causes, increasing also, especially in the Town of Dundalk.

The prices at which broken stones were contracted for through the County in 1840 and 1841 varied from 9d to 18d a cubic yard, including their application to the surface, and all necessary road work. Soon after the price rose to 2s., then by degrees to 4s., 5s., and 6s. in late years. All this has been lately exceeded in the Town of Dundalk—round which a Ring appears to be drawn—where the prices in the tenders for the two main streets ran up to a rate of about 8s. 7d. the cubic yard. The contracts in all the other baronies were fairly taken at the Adjourned Sessions: those taken as well as those not taken in and about Dundalk, require most serious consideration, for if the prices within the Municipal Boundary be forced up so will those outside it. By prices, I mean rates per cubic yard for the same quality of broken stones—different roads requiring different quantities.

Two of my Assistants had to attend specially during the past year, under the Act 20 & 21 Vic., cap. 15, to the repairs of five of the Town Roads within the Municipal Boundary of Dundalk. These occupied most of their time, early and late; and I was myself unable to take the usual autumnal holidays from having been wedged, as it were, into this extra work, and in having also to organise a double staff to carry on the works, keep accounts, and make fortnightly payments from pay sheets duly checked and posted through a Sub-Contractor. These roads are all now stronger and better in crust than I ever knew them. They have not only been repaired and maintained, but very considerably strengthened; attaining almost everywhere convex instead of worn-down and often concave sections as when first handed over to my office. They are, however, dirty, and have been converted, in many places—some of the Town Commissioners being amongst the worst offenders—into elongated depôts for holding heaps of dirt and rubbish, thrown or swept out from houses, shops, passages, crossings, footpaths, car-stands, water-tables or channels, and trap-grates, all mixed with the ordinary road mud or road scrapings, forming a compost which it is impossible to separate.

The Towns' Improvement (Ireland) Act, 1854, is especially an Act for paving, lighting, draining, and cleansing. Under sections 87 to 98 of the 10th and 11th Victoria, cap. 34, embodied therein, the sweeping, cleansing, and removal of dust, dirt and filth, of every sort, from the streets and footpaths, became the duty of the Town Commissioners; also, the execution of all works of drainage, sewerage, and paving. The County Surveyor cannot sue offenders for obstructions and nuisances within the Municipal Boundary as he could outside it, under the 159th section of the Grand Juries Act, or the 10th section of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1851. All this duty is specially transferred to the Town Commissioners and their Officers who, I believe, under sections 95 & 97, 10 & 11 Vic., cap. 34, could sue any person (even a County Surveyor) not employed by them, who sweeps, cleanses, collects or carries away any dust, dirt, rubbish, or filth of any sort from the streets. Cleansing and the removal of the stuff is nowhere required by Grand Jury Laws: it is a matter of specification; but is especially provided for and demanded from Town Commissioners within their Boundary by Municipal Laws.

I should probably have remained ignorant of all this, even up to the present, but for the offensive attacks and obstructiveness of the Town Commissioners since Spring 1876, but especially after I had refused a sum of £100 to some of them, as stated in my report of last Spring. The office was then refused the use of the usual depôt, behind the Exchange, for broken stones, and had to remove those in store there; and was also threatened with legal proceedings for using road-scrapings as blending through newly applied broken stones, on worn-down streets, and for filling low places and stagnant pools in open places within the Municipal Boundary—operations which were alleged to be injurious to the Sanitary condition of the Town. Then road-scrapings were termed filth, now they are termed mud. Next the Local Government Board was written to, requesting that the County Surveyor should be directed to repair and clean streets for which there were no presentments. In a reply, dated 14th November, 1876, that Board stated "that it is the duty of the Town Commissioners to provide for the cleansing of the streets" This opinion, seen by me some time after in a local newspaper, was my first information of the separate and relative duties to be discharged by Grand Jury and Municipal Authorities. The first have power to repair and maintain by macadamizing the streets. It is the duty of the second to clean and keep them clean, and to remove all nuisances within their boundary. In the letter just referred to, the Town Commissioners had notice in November, 1876, of what was their duty from the highest authority. Having learnt the law in this manner through the Commissioners themselves, it was my duty to act according to it. I therefore excepted towns under the Towns' Improvement Act from scavenging by County Contractors in my specifications for the repairs of roads since then. I consulted your solicitor also on this important question, when the piles of nuisances became intolerable in last October, and I sought to have the nuisances removed. He took the opinion of Counsel, which agreed with that of the Local Government Board. Acting on this opinion, a mandamus has been applied for to compel the Commissioners to discharge their duty, and to provide for the cleansing of the streets. The law must now decide the points at issue.

In discussing this question it will be necessary to separate the presentments and specifications made at Spring, 1877, after the letter and opinion of the Local Government Board of the 14th November, 1876, from those made previously. The specifications for new presentments, now before you, within the municipal boundary, provide for two estimates in each tender, one including the scavenging according to the endorsements on the backs of the applications, the other in accordance with the opinion of Counsel, received soon after road sessions, omitting it. If you sanction the first, the exceptional clause for towns under the municipal acts must be struck out. At this stage in this most important subject, to carry out the law and your directions in doing so, shall be my duty; but the applications on the schedule and the tenders for the contracts are not in accordance with the specifications, as they do not state the cost with and without scavenging. They cannot, therefore, be adopted without alterations.

In my report last Spring, and also verbally at last road sessions, I suggested that the Town Commissioners should contract with the Grand Jury, as was formerly done, for the macadamizing of the streets, receiving the same rates per cubic yard for the specified quantity of broken stones, including all ordinary work, as is paid on the roads outside adjoining the municipal boundary, and to carry on the work under their own surveyor and officers. Then they could apply the profits to assist in the scavenging. At present they cut up the streets wherever they think fit to make crossings or construct drains or sewers; they would then, as contractors, have the repairs of the surfaces so interfered with in their own hands. In the evidence given before the Commissioners appointed to inquire into the municipal affairs (in Ireland), 1876, the Town Clerk of Fermoy, says:—"I always put in a tender to the Grand Jury, on the part of the Town Commissioners, for such works as are necessary, and if it is accepted, the Commissioners sub-contract." The like course was also formerly adopted in Dundalk with advantage to the public. The following paragraph is from my report, as printed in last Spring Warrant:—"The scavenging or cleansing of the streets is especially the duty of the town, and could be carried out most economically by the present Commissioners and their officers (as such and not in their private capacity), becoming the contractors for the ordinary repairs and cleansing with the Grand Jury, as was done formerly at a time when I acted as Town Surveyor."

In the country the cost of cleansing roads and the removal of the stuff is comparatively small, and generally otherwise compensated for. In the Town of Dundalk this cost is considerable, especially that portion under the head of removal. My office, however, did not limit itself to the maintenance and repairs of the streets in the past year. A sum of about £260, all we could spare from the repairs, was expended in cleansing and removing the stuff and the filth, to effect the necessary repairs. Less than half this amount for roads of the same traffic in the country would have done the ordinary work well. To show the extreme opinions of Town Commissioners on this subject, the following paragraph is taken from a letter reported as having been read at a meeting of that body in August last:—"Mr. Neville ought to be called on by your body to clean and keep clean all the back and front streets, daily;" and, again, "Dr. Browne ought to assist Mr. Neville, and see that all the streets, lanes, &c., should get daily a regular cleansing, get all filth removed before a certain hour in the morning, and see after all nuisances that are to be seen daily, but are never looked after;" and the Town Clerk is directed "to call Mr. Neville's attention to the matter." Again, at a meeting early in last October, when a complaint was made of the dirty state of certain footpaths and water-tables, which it was then the acknowledged duty of the Commissioners to clean, one of them is reported in a local newspaper, to have moved "that the stuff be removed and left on the road," a recommendation which has been since more generally carried out than before. All this comes from a body specially elected to do the duty themselves, and who have their own Surveyor and Inspector, receiving salaries amounting together to about £90, for an expenditure on works averaging only about £200 a year, out of a general levy of about £850; while the expenditure by the County on streets and roads alone within the municipal boundary was, last year, £1,158. In this year it will be £1,516 if the prices in the schedule before you be sanctioned. This is more than double the cost of the same mileage (viz., £754 in 1867) ten years ago. On the two leading streets alone £294 is added to last year's cost, and £357 on all those now before you, which sum will be considerably augmented as the other old town contracts expire, unless the movement be checked. The increase of expense can only be for extra scavenging, as the quantity of broken stones required to be supplied for the new contracts at present before you is about 200 cubic yards less than for last year. I must observe here that cleansing, or the removal of a nuisance from a road in the form of mud, dirt, or filth, is one thing—repairs and maintenance another. A road can be in excellent repair, and yet in a dirty state, especially in towns; on the other side a road can be clean, smooth, and pleasant to travel over, yet worn down and wanting in the most essential characteristics of a good road—shape and strength. I feel some amount of professional pride that these characteristics indicate the general state of the presentment roads in Louth, not excepting the present improved condition of those in Dundalk.

A memorial, dated the 30th October, 1877, signed Edward H.

Macardle, J.P., Chairman of the Town Commissioners, Dundalk, to His Grace the Lord Lieutenant, was printed, and largely circulated through the county at the beginning of last month. Why was not the reply of the 1st of December printed and circulated with it also? And where is the report of the Local Government Board referred to in that reply, and promised to be "duly communicated" to the Town Commissioners? There are twenty-five paragraphs in this memorial, and I shall answer them where necessary in the order of number.

The first part of the tenth paragraph in the printed memorial—where my name is first introduced—is a misstatement, and what follows this misstatement is but special pleading and innuendo. In March, 1855, immediately after the Towns' Improvement Act came into operation, I was elected a Town Commissioner for Dundalk without my previous knowledge. Mr. Haig, Major Jocelyn, Mr. O'Neill, and the late Messrs. Townley, Shekleton, Russell, Wynne, and others, were also then elected. I believe I did some good; but resigned on the 7th September, 1856, remaining only six months in office, and never acted as Town Commissioner since or before; therefore I could not, as stated in the memorial, "have resigned that position" in 1861, when I accepted the office of Borough Surveyor, which was offered to me—not sought for. I resigned this latter position also, at the end of the year 1871, although solicited to retain it, because I would not act as Borough Surveyor after some of the old Commissioners were put out. However, from 1840 up till 1876, five years after my resignation, I always acted in "the utmost harmony" with the Town Board in all its phases, old and new, whether in the two-fold position of County and Borough Surveyor for nearly ten years, or as County Surveyor for nearly forty years. The largest Presentments—those for sewers and footpaths—were obtained at a time when I had no connection with the body. If the present Board did not make proper applications, or failed with the Cesspayers in getting New Presentments, as rates in aid for sewers, footpaths, or other works since 1871, I can't help that. I never opposed them. A differently constituted body would probably have been more successful. In 1876, however, for reasons I have before explained, the struggle began; it has since continued, and I am again driven to my guns to defend—certainly not to attack.

The statements in paragraphs 11, 12, and 13 of the memorial are misleading and inaccurate. The works referred to were carried on by me, directly, as Borough Surveyor—the Inspector of Nuisances being only generally made use of on them. He had from my ledger an opportunity of seeing the profits which were then applied to the use of the town in carrying on other town works. Seeing thus the sure profits, he became himself the contractor with the County when new presentments were open, and the savings consequently became his own. It is not true that I made any request in the matter.

The Grand Jury did at Spring, 1876, take up the Inspector of Nuisances' contracts. He appeared by memorial and a solicitor before the Committee, stating he lost £1,300 which he had profited up to the year of his marriage, 1872, from having to pay his wife's debts of £1,900, and made such a case that he and his securities were relieved, but certainly not "on my suggestion," as stated in paragraph 14 of the memorial. I was promised every assistance to work up his neglected contracts, and I submitted to the views of the Committee. The assistance promised I never received from him or his securities—two of whom were Town Commissioners—but for one week after the Assizes. This was paid for in the following June, one Town Commissioner receiving 15s. wages for his superintendence. I could only accept the continuance of the assistance offered to me by being false to my trust and to the County. However, the Inspector of Nuisances' contracts and my connection with them were terminated at Spring, 1877, twelve months after having been placed in my charge, and twelve months ago.

With reference to the so-called "pernicious system" mentioned in paragraph 14, I shall only read two letters, according to dates, one from Dr. Browne and the other from Dr. Brunker, without comment, observing that I have received more annoyance from the Dundalk Town Commissioners since June, 1876, than from all other sources taken together for the entire time I had been previously in the County. (Letters read.)

The quotation in inverted commas in paragraph 16, taken from the letter of the Local Government Board of the 14th of Nov., 1876, is interpolated with the sentence, "being an urban sanitary authority," which is not in the letter, a copy of which I have in print; and for the sentence "to provide for the cleansing of the streets," substitutes "to provide for cleansing." This astute interpolation, and this clever suppression, limit and misapply the meaning of the original. I have already stated the grounds on which I deny any obligation to clean the streets. It is not true that I undertook this work by order of the Grand Jury. (Paragraphs 21 and 22.) The reverse is the case, for the scavenging in towns under the Towns' Improvement Act is specifically excepted in print in the specifications for the repairs. The Grand Jury made no such order, and I stated in my report at Spring, 1877, at the time when the presentments were made, that "the scavenging or cleansing of the streets is especially the duty of the town."

There is no such "contention" (sic.) as that stated in paragraph 23. The town received last year £1,158 for repairs of the streets and roads alone, "within the municipal limits," from the County Cess, partaking at the same time, in other ways, in the highest degree, "of the common advantages arising from County Cess expenditure;" but the scavenging of the streets is by statute the duty, as it is under the entire control, of the Town Commissioners. I am not conscious that there is any objection to give reasonable help from time to time by other presentments, if properly applied for, to the town as formerly. As to the excuse founded on the Town Commissioners' "very limited powers of taxation," it has no foundation. They have the fullest powers for the purposes of cleansing the streets under the Special Act, and under the 58th section of 27 & 28 Vic., cap. 90. They were told of their duty "to provide for the cleansing of the streets," in the Local Government Board's letter in 1876, before last year's rates were struck. My specifications, which were open to the public in the usual manner for two months before last Spring Assizes, were notices, and I noticed them by letter, dated 29th October, 1877, before this year's rates were struck, but all in vain.

The clear legal question of "whose duty it is to do the cleansing or the scavenging of the streets," is throughout this memorial hidden by such statements as I have pointed out. I shall not criticise them farther; but it is necessary to observe here that it is not the duty of the County Surveyor to make applications for the repairs of back streets, by-roads, or new works. It is the business of parties interested to get two persons paying Grand Jury Cess to make applications, and to find contractors for such repairs or works when approved of at road sessions. Under the Grand Jury Act there can be no presentment without a contractor; but a modification of this stringent law, to meet exceptional cases, where the general public might suffer from a combination of contractors or otherwise, is provided in the 20 & 21

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT, SPRING ASSIZES, 1878.

Vic., cap. 15, and the adoption or not of its provisions is left to discretion of the Grand Jury. In carrying out such work, however, or under the 140th section of the Grand Jury Act, the Surveyor does not undertake any of the responsibilities of a contractor, and he is only accountable for the due appropriation of any funds placed at his disposal to the works given him in charge.

The present Town Commissioners and others appear to think that the proportionate taxation of about £2,000 yearly within the municipal boundary, by Grand Jury Assessment, entitles them to separation in fiscal matters. The claims of the County at Large and Barony for benefits conferred appear to be ignored. The County built the County and Borough Courts in the centre of the town, from the outlay on which the town principally benefited in the first instance, and from which it benefits daily in having a Borough Court; weekly, by a Petty Sessions Court; quarterly, by a Quarter Sessions Court; and half-yearly, by an Assize Court, all held in Dundalk.

A County and Borough Prison was also built within the town at a heavy expense by the County, and centres of disease removed from off and about its site. Since 1840 a sum of over £6,000 was also contributed by the Baronial Cesspayers for sewers, footpaths, alterations and remodelling of the streets, over and above the annual cost of repairs. Surely the County and Barony are entitled to a fair sum annually for their heavy expenditure on all these works within the town, and especially benefiting the inhabitants.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of the County of Louth assembled
at Summer Assizes, 1878.

GENTLEMEN,—The County roads under contract, with few exceptions, continue in good order. At the late adjourned road sessions no tenders were received for the repairs of roads within the municipal boundary of the town of Dundalk ; but since then the unanimous decision of the four Judges in the High Court of the Queen's Bench, that it is the duty of the Town Commissioners to clean the streets was obtained, and I expect that the ring gathered about this town to obstruct a healthy competition amongst contractors must soon give way. The competition through other parts of the County was of the usual kind.

Owing to new developments I found it necessary to ask your Secretary to modify the old printed "forms of tenders" by contractors' in some cases. He has declined to do so without your order. Under sections 17 and 22 of the Grand Jury Act these "forms of tenders" are to be prepared by the County Surveyor. I contend that the Secretary is bound by the law, and I respectfully ask for your instructions to have it complied with.

An order was made some time ago directing your Solicitor to take any necessary proceedings to protect the interests of the County between Assizes. I think it would be useful to print this order, or a similar one, yearly, in the Grand Warrant. Lately, in Carlingford, the owner of a vessel refused to pay the tolls on the full tonnage to the Harbour Constable, and your Solicitor declined to act without such an order. Also, there are about 1160 miles of boundaries to your County roads, and about 244 different contracts on your books, and it is yearly becoming more difficult to maintain your rights in these boundaries, and control the contractors. It would have been well, also, if the County were represented at the late inquiry in Dundalk, held by an Inspector from the Local Government Board, on an application by the Town Commissioners to sever the Town from the County.

The following abstract from a resolution by the Grand Jury is printed in the Grand Warrant for Spring, 1858:—"The Grand Jury will not, for the future, entertain any petitions from contractors, and all the contracts will require to be executed in strict conformity with the specifications." It has been found impracticable to comply with this order, perhaps from its apparent harshness; but I seldom hear of memorials until my opinion is asked for by your Committee. I would therefore suggest that the order of 1858 be now cancelled, and a new order made requiring the contractors or others to furnish a copy of each memorial to the County Surveyor, ten days at least before the Grand Jury meet, the same as notices for works before road sessions. It is almost impossible to be fully prepared to answer questions by the Grand Jury where no previous notice has been given.

I believe it would be for the interest of the County if the repairs and maintenance of the County Court-house, and also of the Ardee Court-house, were placed under the control of a Committee of the Grand Jury. The present contract system for the repairs of these buildings does not work well, and it would be much better to get any repairs necessary, from time to time, executed at once by the proper artificers, and then have them paid for.

There were only 380 miles of roads under contracts at the time of my appointment as your Surveyor, and there were then four assistants. There were also four Surveyors extra on the turnpike roads which were transferred to the County in 1858. There are now 584 miles of roads under contracts, and but three assistants. My work has been more than doubled, and I believe it would conduce greatly to the interests of the County to allow another assistant—the increase of work and cost, even in the last four years, would pay over twenty times the salary. What is principally wanted in an assistant is a feeling of duty and responsibility, with integrity and energy; but it must be admitted, that the more faithfully the outdoor duties are performed, the more proportionately are Surveyors and their assistants out of pocket, as their travelling expenses are not paid. This is a defect in the law which I hope will soon be remedied.

One hundred years ago Arthur Young wrote,—“For a country so far behind as Ireland to have got so much the start of us in the article of roads is a spectacle which cannot fail to strike the British traveller;” and with reference to the originator of the system adds, “Ireland, and every traveller who visits it ought, to the latest posterity, revere the memory of such a distinguished benefactor of the public.” This testimony from an English traveller in favour of the old Grand Jury system, even when business was transacted with closed doors in the Grand Jury room, is far more applicable to the present system in operation for 44 years; and my experience, which extends some years beyond, leads me to fear any change in principle from the existing law, although some modifications in detail are undoubtedly called for. I have touched on this subject as a bill for the substitution of Elected County Boards for Grand Juries in fiscal matters is now before Parliament.

A sum of £495 was presented to me at the last Assizes for the Town roads. Out of this I expended only £211 15s. 10d. in repairs and cleaning up to the 29th ult. I also, by your order, made on my recommendation, paid £31 7s. to the Town Commissioners. I have stones in depôt for future repairs, for which I paid £162 2s., and there is still available £90 3s. 2d. in cash.

Any other necessary matters I shall lay before your Committee.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of the County of Louth assembled at Spring Assizes, 1879.

GENTLEMEN,—A sum of £13,080 was presented for County Road Works within the past year, and 576 miles of roads were under repairs and maintenance. These, excepting those which my certificates or their absence point out, were generally kept in fair order. I have attached hereto the usual statistics of work presented for, in detail for each Barony.

The time has come when, in my opinion, the law should be carried out with reference to cleansing the streets of Dundalk. No town in Ireland has received so many benefits from its past connection with the County and Barony. The interest on the capital formerly expended on new works within the town by the Barony alone, altogether apart from the County at Large, and from works of maintenance, exceeds any difference in the present incidence of baronial taxation and expenditure, and if it is now to be separated to the injury of the Barony, the same argument, but far stronger, would apply to the separation of the Town of Ardee, which is under Town Commissioners also.

Out of eight presentments sanctioned at the last Road Sessions for the repairs of roads within the Town of Dundalk, only one was tendered for. Cleansing was excluded from the specifications, yet the prices sanctioned would cover it also; wishing the contracts to be taken by the Town Commissioners. To grant the prices allowed to ordinary Contractors, if they came forward, would be a loss to the Barony without any corresponding benefit to the Town. There will be a saving of from £400 to £450 to the credit of the Barony out of the Town Roads in my hands for the past year. A Contractor, if there had been one, would have made a much larger sum clear profit.

One of my three Assistants resigned about two months ago, and it will be necessary to appoint another in his place. I have appointed my son an extra fourth assistant on the authority of the last Grand Jury: he is a Graduate of the University of Dublin in Engineering, and obtained special honors there in practical engineering and other cognate subjects.

The Harbour Constable of Carlingford Pier died since last Assizes: he was a faithful County servant. I have named James Salmon, a pensioner from the navy, to fill the office temporarily until this Assizes.

AUDITOR'S REPORT TO THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD.

(COPY.)

The Secretary Local Government Board, Dublin.

BELFAST, 27th December, 1878.

SIR,—I have the honor to report to the Local Government Board for Ireland, that I have Audited the Accounts of the Secretary of the Grand Jury of the County of Louth for the period following the Spring Assizes, 1878, under the authority of the Order in Council of the Lord Lieutenant bearing date the 21st June last; and in compliance therewith, I now forward to you, to be submitted to the Board, a certified abstract of the Accounts, balanced by £5,380 16s. 9d. in favor of the Secretary, which, after a full examination of the Receipts and Expenditure for the period under Audit, I found to be the true balance then held by the County Bank to his credit, for the purposes of the County Louth.

The Abstract now forwarded shows, under different heads, the whole of the Receipts and Expenditure of the Grand Jury, through their Secretary, for the above period. The Receipts, as will be seen, amounted to £11,200 11s. 0d., making, with the balance of £5,358 6s. 9d. at the commencement of the period in the hands of the Bank, a total of £16,558 17s. 9d. The total amount expended during the same time amounted to £10,978 1s. 0d., leaving the above balance of £5,580 16s. 9d. in the County Bank when the accounts were closed.

The Secretary of the Grand Jury gave me every facility and assistance to enable me to test the accuracy of the Accounts, and I have pleasure in certifying their correctness; and in stating that the whole of the receipts were duly accounted for, and that the expenditure was properly vouched and authorized.

I have the honor to be, Sir, your most obedient servant,

The Accounts were kept in a correct and satisfactory manner by the Secretary of the Grand Jury, by whom all cash received was duly accounted for, and all the expenditure satisfactorily vouched.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

*To the Grand Jury of the County of Louth assembled
at Summer Assizes, 1879.*

GENTLEMEN—Three new applications appear on the schedule with reference to which it is necessary I should make special reference. The first, No. 1, in the Barony of Ardee, is for £200, to make 104 perches of a new road between the Ballykelly and Corcreagh road, at the Stonetown National School and Stonetown Chapel. This work has been sanctioned twice at Road Sessions; but the inclination is so steep as 1 in 14 in one place, and the site is one adopted by the occupiers, nearly all along existing fences. I have specified for a 16 feet road, and that the contractor shall pay all damages for land. The second application is No. 23, £250, in the Barony of Upper Dundalk—not yet contracted for—for lowering hills and filling hollows at Derryfalone, on a cross road, on which there are worse hills; and the third, No. 2, in the Barony of Ferrard, for £201, to remodel, drain, and repair 460 perches of an old road, for the benefit of the adjacent occupiers. The sum applied for first was £1020 for 1020 perches; 460 perches were sanctioned at £460, which I found could be further reduced to £230, and the contract was taken at £201. At the County at Large Sessions the Court recommended, at my request, that the repairs of the County Court-house, and the Ardee Quarter Sessions Court, should be placed under the control of Local Grand Jurors in each case.

In compliance with the order of the Grand Jury at Spring Assizes, I examined early in last April the new works and pier at Gyles' Quay, at low spring ebb-tide. The superstructure is fairly built, but the substructure and foundations are defective, and not such as a contractor should deliver up to the County, or that I could certify for. I think it would be well to apply for a copy of the original plans and specifications.

Immediately after last Assizes a second of my assistants resigned. Out of many applicants for the vacancies I have as yet made but one temporary appointment, subject to your approval, Mr. E. J. McSwiney, an Associate of the Institution of Civil Engineers of Ireland.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
JOHN NEVILLE.

COUNTY OF LOUTH.

(COPY.)

Belfast, 26th July, 1879.

GENTLEMEN—I have the honour to report that I have audited the Accounts of the Secretary of the Grand Jury of the County of Louth following Spring Assizes, 1879, in conformity with the Order in Council of the Lord Lieutenant bearing date the 21st June, 1878, and as required thereby I forward herewith an abstract of the accounts showing the receipts and expenditure of the County under the several heads, for the period under audit. The total receipts during that period amounted to £9,898 10s. 8d., making, with the balance of £6,683 4s. 11d. due by the Secretary when the previous account was closed, a total of £16,581 15s. 7d. The total expenditure during the same time amounted to £9,692, leaving the above balance of £6,889 15s. 7d. at the credit of the Secretary, for behoof of the County, in the books of the County Bank, an amount which I found to be quite correct, after a full examination of the items forming the receipts, and of the vouchers for the expenditure.

The accounts were submitted to me in a very correct and satisfactory manner, and the expenditure was properly vouched and authorized.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Your most obt. servant,

R. SIMMS, AUDITOR.
