COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of Louth assembled at Spring Assizes, 1874.

GENTLEMEN—The expenditure on County Works during the past year was £10,114 13s. 7d.; and the number of miles of roads under repairs and maintenance a fraction over 5·77. The cost of all works was 10·78 pence in the pound in 1871, 10·72 pence in 1872, and 11·6 pence in 1873. The average rates per perch for maintenance in these three years, taken in the same order, was 11·46 pence, 11·70 pence, and 11·96 pence, showing an increase, but not at all in proportion to the increased value of labour. The general details of the expenditure, and a comparison with the two preceding years, are given in the accompanying tables, 1 and 2; table 3 contains some corrections in past rates per perch.

The general state of the contract roads and other works through the County is good; but as these are in all 244 different contracts, extending over 577 miles of roads, it is difficult if not impossible to escape a certain per centage of defective and late work. Altogether your contractors have done their works pretty well. My principal reason for declining to give certificates in full to many of them was defective formation of the shoulders of the contract roads, and the use of materials not properly prepared, or not put out with skill at the proper periods. There are, however, a few strong cases of defaulting contractors, whose names I must bring before you to have sued for breach of contract.

I believe the duties of the First Assistant-Surveyor, from the state of his health, must still continue to be discharged by another. The law, as it now stands, does not provide for a pension or a retiring allowance, even after twenty-four years service; but if retained on the staff at such reduced salary as may be considered fair, something might be done to meet a case such as this is.

As the works numbered on the Schedule are called over I shall report on them where necessary; but there are no new works calling for a special report.

If no tenders have been lodged lately for contracts Nos. 1 & 2, Barony of Upper Dundalk, and No. 9, Barony of Ferrard, it will be necessary to make such arrangements respecting them at this Assizes as shall save those Baronies from future loss, and the public from inconvenience.

I received some papers respecting Carlingford Harbour, which I beg to lay before you.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NEVILLE,
County Surveyor.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of the County of Louth assembled at Summer Assizes, 1874.

GENTLEMEN—The roads and bridges in this County continue in good order, with a few exceptions. In many cases, however, the specified widths have not been formed and repaired by the contractors. For this neglect, I regret to say, the Assistant-Surveyor's are also blamable for having given certificates which I have found were not always accurate. I hope this will not again happen, as I shall ask for the removal of any Assistant who hereafter errs in this way.

I have been asked to accept, on your part, the road-crossings altered by the Greenore Railway Company. Having had sections prepared, I found the provisions of the Railway Clauses' Act and Parliamentary Plans were not fully complied with, and therefore declined recommending this Grand Jury to take up the works. I expect that I shall be able to do so at next Spring Assizes.

The proceedings directed to be taken against some defaulting contractors at last Assizes have not been carried out, and new contracts must now be postponed until next road sessions.

The system of repairing, by yearly contract, the Dundalk and Ardee Court-houses, does not work well, and I believe the necessary works would be best executed under the control of the local Justices.

I shall report upon the Applications on the Schedule when called over.

I am, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NEVILLE,

County Surveyor.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of the County of Louth, assembled at Spring Assizes, 1875.

GENTLEMEN—During the past year, 593 miles of roads were under repairs and maintenance. This mileage is the greatest yet attained in any year; it exceeds that of 1840 by 212 miles, and that 1864 by 27 miles. Comparing 1864 and 1874, you had, in

Miles.	Cost of Repairs and Maintenance,	Total Expenditure on County Works, &c.	Rate per perch for Repairs & Maintenance
1864 560	£9495 4s. 10d.	£12195 0s. 5d.	12 59d.
1874 593	9732 6s. 10d.	£11278 3s. 10d.	12 65d.

The general details of the last year's expenditure are given in the accompanying tables, Nos. 1 and 2, for the separate baronies. With the increasing mileage, there has been a general increase of traffic, and also an increase in the cost of labour. The latter you are aware of, but the increase of traffic is not so easily known. In this, a narrow coast County, however, it may be indicated, to some degree by the tonnage of the ports of Newry, Dundalk and Drogheda, along its Coast, which, in the years 1841 and 1873, were as follows—

	In 1841	In 1873.
Newry,	182,398 tons.	466,672 tons.
Dundalk,	106,909 tons.	248,780 tons.
Drogheda,	150,606 tons.	227,935 tons.

Total on Coast, 439,9J3 tons. 943,387 tons.

So that this tonnage has more than doubled within this period. Owing to the increase of mileage and traffic, as well as to the severity of the last four months, my inspections were more extended and severe than at any time since my appointment, now almost 35 years ago.

Application No. 4, Barony of Upper Dundalk, for reducing the hills at Ballybarrack, on the road from Dundalk to Ardee, was rejected at Road Sessions on the understanding that a new road would perhaps be more advisable. If a committee of the Grand Jury be appointed for the purpose of getting full information on this point and having the proper applications made at next May Sessions, it would be for the public good; as the hills in question on so important a road, should be reduced, or a new and better road substituted. The latter I think is the right plan.

The prosecutions of defaulting contractors ordered at Spring Assizes, 1874, have not been followed up, owing to some legal difficulty. Under the circumstances the better course would be to discontinue making any farther presentments where contractors for works of Maintenance failed in substantially carrying out their engagements; and to get new contracts,—refusing to contract again with the defaulters in every case. Here I beg to observe that all legal proceedings at the Petty Sessions Courts which may be necessary from Assizes to Assizes most properly belong to your Solicitor's department; and mine should be relieved from this labour unless to submit a case and give evidence when required. A very large number of certificates were withheld at the late road Sessions. I intimated the probability of this result at Spring Assizes, 1873, but as this season has been an unusually severe one, I stated that if a good effort were made before next May Sessions I would then recommend payment, if deserved. The habit of sending in four or five hundred applications for payment only ten days before road Sessions is harassing. When these are for works of maintenance the year for which terminated at a previous Assizes, they should be lodged soon after. Advances on certificates should also terminate at least a fortnight before the Assizes. I have consulted the Secretary on these points and he agrees with my suggestions.

It is necessary to take such proceedings as your Solicitor may find necessary to have the provisions of the Railway Consolidation Clauses Act carried out in this County, where subsidies through time have taken place in embankments at road crossings, and to have the crossings and accommodation roads on the Greenore line at last properly completed.

The duties of one of the Assistants has not been satisfactorily performed for some time, owing, I assume, to increasing age and ill-health, as well as increase of work, and I find it necessary to ask for an extra Assistant for some time. Considering the high degree of integrity and energy required in the honest discharge of an Assistant's duty, and the temptations to which he is exposed, I cannot think a lesser salary than the full amount allowed by the Legislature should be given to any Assistant for the future, who does his duty. On this point I beg to recall the fact that at my appointment as your Surveyor there were four Assistants to 380 miles of roads. There have been since then only three Assistants for an increasing mileage, rising up to 593 miles of roads in the past year.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.

GRAND JURY ORDERS AT SUMMER ASSIZES, 1875.

Resolved—That Patrick Graham be appointed assistant to the County Surveyor at a salary of £70 a year for the present, and that the services of Patrick Byrne be dispensed with from this Assizes.

Ordered—That a copy of the Ordnance Survey of the Town of Dundalk, on the enlarged scale, be procured for the County Surveyor's Office.

To the Foreman and Grand Jury of the County of Louth.

GENTLEMEN,—As already announced, and owing to my health becoming delicate, I beg leave (as I hereby do) to resign the office of Secretary of Grand Jury of this County, which I have had the honour of holding for the past 31 years.

Permit me to tender my warmest acknowledgements for the kindness and support which I have invariably received during my tenure of office, and while regretting the step I feel obliged to take, I shall always retain a grateful recollection of the confidence reposed in me.—I have the honour to be, gentlemen, your obliged and faithful servant,

A. SHEKLETON.

Resolved—That, Mr. Alexander Shekleton, of Dundalk, having resigned the office of Secretary of the Grand Jury of the County of Louth, Mr. Townley F. Filgate, of Lisrenny, in the County of Louth, be appointed Secretary to said Grand Jury.

1ST RESOLUTION.

We, the Grand Jury of the County of Louth, assembled at Summer Assizes, 1875, have received, with great regret, the resignation (in consequence of ill health) of our Secretary, Alexander Shekleton, Esq.

We beg to convey to him our unqualified approval of the manner in which he has conducted the business of his office, which he has held with much credit to himself and benefit to the County for a period of thirty-one years.

We can assure him that he carries with him, in his retirement, our respect and regard; and we hope that some relaxation from his onerous duties will shortly restore him to health.

2ND RESOLUTION.

Resolved--That a list be opened to receive subscriptions from past and present members of the Grand Jury of this County, in order to present our late Secretary with a Testimonial in recognition of his services and as a token of our esteem, and that William de Salis Filgate, Esq., M.F.H., be requested to act as Treasurer.

3RD RESOLUTION.

Resolved--That the foregoing Resolutions be entered on the books of this County.

Resolved--That, Mr. Alexander Shekleton, of Dundalk, having resigned the office of keeper of the County Court-house, Mr. Townley F. Filgate, of Lisrenny, be appointed in his room.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

Summer Assizes, 1875.*

GENTLEMEN—The Committee appointed to consider the best means of improving the entrance to Dundalk from Ardee, at Ballybarrack, met since last Assizes. I submitted for their consideration a plan embodying a new line of road of about 190 perches long, and the improvement of 114 perches of the existing lower road, making together 304 perches—the greatest inclination on which would not exceed 1 in 30 for only a distance of 94 perches. Applications were made at road sessions for cutting down the hills on the old road to inclinations not exceeding 1 in 20 for a distance of 144 perches, and, also, for making the new road. The application for £900 for the former was adopted by the Cesspayers. No tender, however, to do the work for this sum was lodged; but even were a contractor forthcoming, I am of opinion that it would be a loss to lay out so much money on a plan falling so much short of the requirements of the districts on both sides.

The road along the coast, between the Cross of Port and Hackett's Cross, is in the course of being gradually swept away by the encroachment of the sea. To resist this effectually would require a very large expenditure. Such applications for the purpose as No. 6 in the Barony of Ferrard, adopted by the Cesspayers, would only remedy a very small portion of the evil. I hope any future application will be for a sufficient amount to do the work properly, in order that the Grand Jury and Cesspayers generally, may form an opinion whether the advantages would be commensurate with the cost.

Having found it necessary, since last Assizes, to change the late assistant of the Dundalk district to another, and to appoint the new assistant in his place, an attempt was made, by the publication of some placards, which I have seen but not read, to get up a Contractors' meeting in Dundalk. I wish to say here, for the information of those who endeavour to avoid the due performance of their contracts, that the new assistant having (so far as I know) discharged his duty, I think it right to support him, and also to bring some admissions of his predecessor before you.

The roads under contract through the County are generally in the usual fair state of repair. The exceptions are mostly roads out of contract. It will be necessary to present and make provision until next Assizes for the repairs of No. 1 in the Barony of Ardee, and Nos. 2 and 3 in the Barony of Upper Dundalk, if no tenders be now forthcoming.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.
